

Any number of the Doctor Who companions would have looked delightful with their bottoms up. In my opinion, however, Jo Grant needed to be spanked until she couldn't sit down! She was always getting herself into scrapes that the Doctor then had to come and get her out of. Besides, Katy Manning, the actress who played Jo, had a predilection for wearing extremely short skirts, and flashing her knickers at the camera. Anyone that naughty deserves a well-smacked bottom! After showing this message to Ian, we sat down and surfed some of his Doctor Who collection, and wrote the following short story together. It is set near the beginning of the episode "The Three Doctors", during Jon Pertwee's tenure as the good Doctor. The Doctor and Jo are returning to U.N.I.T. headquarters in Bessie, the Doctor's antique yellow roadster. The Doctor looks as dapper as ever in his black Inverness coat, red velvet smoking jacket, and tuxedo trousers. Jo is garbed in a waist-length blue fur jacket, a thigh-length blue knit dress, grey tights, and knee high black leather boots.

The Doctor pulls the car up in front of the HQ building, and they climb out. On Jo's side of the car, there is a drain set in the pavement. As she closes her umbrella (the roof of the car was down and it was raining), the Doctor says to her "All right, let's see what Dr. Tyler's found out about that plate."

Standing next to the car, Jo sees a strange blue and red glowing blob coming up out of the drain. "What's that?", she says. The blob begins to grow in size rapidly. "Jo, back slowly away behind the car!", the Doctor says to her. Undeterred, Jo continues to stare at the blob, unmoving. "Do as I say!!", the Doctor shouts. Jo turns, climbs through the open car (giving the camera and the audience one of her frequent knicker-flashes), and joins the Doctor on the other side. "What is it?", she asks him. "When I tell you to run, you run!", he replies. "Right, run!!" They both run past the back of the car, and into the trees beyond the pavement.

The blob continues to grow until it is larger than the car. In a blur of cheap special effects, there is a blinding flash. When the light clears, the car has vanished, and the blob is rapidly shrinking. From behind a tree, the Doctor and Jo stare at the almost empty space. "What happened?

What is that?", asks Jo. "I don't know", the Doctor replies. The blob quickly vanishes back down the drain. "Poor old Bessie", says Jo mournfully. "Right, come on", the Doctor tells her, and they step away from the tree and head for the building.

(At this point, we diverge from what was, and move to what should have been).

They walk towards the HQ building, and the Doctor stops suddenly by a low

wall in front of the door. He turns and fixes Jo with a penetrating glare. "And just what did you think you were doing back there? I told you to move away from that thing, and you just stood there staring. Haven't you seen enough today to realize how dangerous that could have been?" "But, Doctor..", Jo begins. "But me no buts, Jo. This is a chronic problem, and you know it. You're forever letting your curiosity get the better of you! This time it could have been fatal. What if what happened to Bessie had happened to you? I'm at my wits' end! I really don't know how to get you to act more responsibly!!"

"I'm sorry, Doctor, it won't happen again" Jo replies, staring down at the toes of her boots. "It certainly won't", says the Doctor, "I'll see to that right now!" He sits down upon the low wall, and taking Jo by the arm, pulls her down across his lap. The skirt of her mini-dress rides up her bottom, showing off her light blue knickers through the grey tights. (Yes, you really can see what color they are in that flash mentioned above).

"Doctor, what are you doing?!", she shrieks. "Since you can't behave like a rational adult, I'm addressing this issue as if you were the child you're acting like! Perhaps a smarting behind will help you to act a little smarter next time!" Placing his right hand firmly in the small of her back, he reaches down with his left, and moves her skirt completely out of the way. He then brings his left hand down heavily upon the seat of her tights and knickers.

"No!" Jo shrieks and starts struggling, trying to get away.

"You stay right where you are, and take what you have coming!" The Doctor brings his hand down again, and again. As he continues to administer this oh-so-richly deserved spanking, Jo squeals and kicks. Apparently its been a long time since her bottom was warmed! SMACK, SMACK, SMACK!

"Please, Doctor, someone might see us!"

"You never mind that, Jo, if you had done as you were told none of this would be necessary." The rain of swats continues until Jo begins blubbering. The Doctor gives her 6 more solidly placed blows to her burning bottom and then releases her.

Jo stands up, wipes the tears from her face, and rubs her sore bottom. She looks at the Doctor and says, "I'm truly sorry, Doctor. I'll try to think things through in future, honestly I will." "Best that you do, miss.", he replies. "If I have to do that again, it will be a good deal less pleasant, I promise. You won't have the dignity of your underwear remaining in place, for one thing! Come along now, let's see how Dr. Tyler is doing." He stands, and they walk together into the building.